THE HARDWARE DETAILS

Accutech designs and builds our own Compass and MAC boards, giving us direct control over product quality and manufacturing speed. Boards are triple-tested before delivery to the end user, leading to guaranteed field functionality.

Compass: Industry-Standard RS-485 Board

Compass boards have an advanced circuit board design, with a high speed Rabbit™ processor, and surface mount component technology. Compass boards can achieve nearly limitless capability within an extremely small footprint.

MAC: Smart Board for High-Risk Applications

MAC boards use the LonTalk® protocol to allow Intelli-Site to report real-time on network activity. MAC boards also support peer-to-peer communication, Programmable Logic Control (PLC) ladder logic, and have a drag-and-drop programming interface.

Integrate Existing Hardware

Accutech Access is compatible with a variety of hardware, including the popular Mercury board. This allows users to leverage their existing system, saving money while taking advantage of all the benefits of the intuitive Intelli-Site software platform.

THE SOFTWARE DETAILS

Accutech is the leader in providing easy-to-use, intuitive access control solutions. Our Accutech Access software offers multiple views to monitor the status, health and wellness of your access control system. Pop-up screens for each panel allow the operator to enable, disable, and activate any point in the system. Legends on each screen provide the operator quick reference for device statuses.

+ Easily create alerts and rules
+ Run standard / custom reports
+ Manage user access control through Microsoft Active Directory® rather than input details about users and buildings manually
